France Returns to the Allies

What a 'Break' for Armistice Day!

This morning was one of the most dramatic moments in all history. We were celebrating Armistice day which closed World War No. 1—when the Associated Press telegraphed news that is calculated to close World War No. 2. On this Armistice day, 1942, Germany attacked Unoccupied France, Vichy's Petain declared his country was therefore free to defend herself—and all France now is fighting on the side of the Allies!

Violent Fighting Is Renewed On Caucasus Front

Moscow, Nov. 11 (AP)—The sinister quiet which enveloped the long Russian front for three days was broken yesterday southeast of Nalchik where, the Soviet mid-day communique said, violent fighting was in process throughout the day and 300 Germans were killed.

German infantry, part of the Nazi force in the Caucasus which has been stalled in its drive toward Ordzhonikidze, northern terminus of the Georgian military highway, attacked the Russian positions with tank support, the communique said. Twelve enemy tanks were reported disabled and nine others set on fire.

At Stalingrad, site of tremendous battles and great destruction in the last two months, the action was confined to artillery duels and light skirmishes within the city. In one sector inside the city a German infantry company tried to breach the Russian defense positions but was driven back with the loss of two platoons, the communique said.

Northeast of Tsimpan, where the Russians have held up the German advance toward the Black Sea naval station, groups of Germans penetrated Russian positions but were mopped up in the fighting which followed, it was reported.

Allies Cut Off Japs in Fight on New Guinea

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Nov. 11 (AP)—Allied forces, fighting a desperate Japanese force in the thick New Guinea jungles around Oivi while Allied aircraft attacked the only remaining point of withdrawal for the enemy, are bringing their battle to a decision, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The Allied fliers flew up and down the line of Japanese supply between Oivi and Buna on the northeastern New Guinea coast, raking ammunition dumps and troops with machinegun fire and bombing gun positions and supply depots.

The communique reported that serious damage was inflicted on the Japanese installations and ammunition dumps were destroyed. Many guns in the vicinity of the fighting were silenced, the communique said, and heavy anti-aircraft guns were blown from their emplacements. Several Japanese were reported inflicted on Japanese ground troops.

Gen. DeGaulle Urges French to Battle

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—General Charles De Gaulle called on the French people today to join the fight against Hitler.

He left to you the hours which still are left to you to come, if you can, to join those who fight by the side of the Allies," the Fighting French leader said in a broadcast over BBC.

Uncommissioned officers, soldiers, men, with your ships, your planes, your arms: Hasten to join the Free French Forces. Do not leave your arms in the hands of the enemy.

Victory is certain. Come and join in it.

Air Infantry Already Landed in North Africa

United States Correspondent

With the AEF in North Africa, Allied Headquarters, North Africa, Nov. 11 (AP)—All French North Africa, including Morocco, capitulated to the American expedition at 7 a.m. (1 a.m. Central War Time) today.

The United States and British expedition was driving eastward at top speed from Algiers toward the Germans now in Tunisia.

American and British forces reached and occupied Dougie, 110 miles east of Algiers, early today.

By The Associated Press
London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Goaded by the American coup in Africa, Adolf Hitler scrapped his armistice with France today, sent his grey-clad columns racing south toward Tunisia, and launched his airborne paratroopers and air-landed infantry into French Tunisia.

Reports from Vichy said Marshal Petain declared the armistice no longer in effect (which could return undefended France to a technical state of war with the Axis), and that he would make no move to interfere with whatever resistance the French could put up.

The Mediterranean took its grim place as the great new front of the war.

The wedge-shaped French protectorate of Tunisia, through which President Roosevelt asked passage for American forces from Algeria to Libya, was the first contested prize.

German broadcasts, perhaps seeking an excuse for Axis troop action, said Tunisia, the capital city, "has been attacked by United States troops since Wednesday morning," and declared that the garrison there was resisting.

Allied headquarters in French North Africa, Nov. 11 (AP)—Admiral Jean Darlan, former French chief of defense forces who has been negotiating secretly for days with U.S. Major Gen. Mark W. Clark, today ordered the cessation of hostilities in all French North Africa.

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Reuters said today that a 50-mile strip of Italy's Ligurian coastal zone, from Genoa southeast to La Spezia, was being evacuated under orders issued on Sunday.

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Reuters said the Vichy radio broadcast today that the French had asked for an Armistice at Casablanca.

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Vichy radio broadcast an appeal today to the French people to rally behind Marshal Petain who has renounced the Nazi remnant into unoccupied France contrary to the terms of the Armistice of Compiegne.

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—The German radio broadcast a DNB report today that British and American nationals in unoccupied France have been interned on order to the French government.

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from the French frontier said today that Marshal Petain and Gen. Maxime Weygand had fled Vichy for an unknown destination.

Rome (From Italian Broadcast) Nov. 11 (AP)—Italian troops crossed the French border this morning to assure the defense of the French coast, the Rome radio announced.

The action was taken in accordance with an order from the German High Command, it was said, and did not mean that the Italian troops would serve as occupation forces.

Portugal and Spain Await Developments

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ, Jr.

Lisbon, Nov. 11 (AP)—Hitler's abrupt termination of the pseudo-independence of Vichy caused no surprise in either Spain or Portugal today, where the action generally was regarded as a necessary defensive move on the part of the hard-pressed Axis.

Both countries are awaiting developments.

The Spanish cabinet, which has been in practically continuous session since early Sunday, met again today. Any action taken in Madrid, however, is expected to be toward outright neutrality, and away from a state of non-belligerence—sympathetic to the Axis. Portugal has adopted a policy of complete neutrality, from the first.

Axis Face Sure Defeat FDR Asserts Today

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—An Arkansas banker, enjoying a brief career as a Senator, appealed today for greater public faith in Congress whose members he has found "hard-working, patriotic and able."

No politician, he insists, but a farmer-business man holding his first public office under an appointment expiring January 3, Senator Lloyd Spencer, a southern Democrat, will return to private life "without regret."

He accepted an appointment in April 1940, under an Arkansas law prohibiting appointees from seeking re-election. "Much as I have enjoyed my associations in the Senate," he said, "I'll be glad to go back to my bank and my farms."

"Members of the Senate work much harder than I had any idea when I came here," Spencer told subject to them. They have been subjected to much more criticism. I've found that politics figured a lot less in Senate action than I imagined.

"Another thing. No man could get rich living in Washington on a Senator's $10,000 a year salary after you add up the high cost of apartments, meals and other essentials.

"I'm no playboy and my principal entertainment is an evening at a picture show with my wife, but it's cost me more to live here than I've made."

Spencer said he was "more optimistic over prospects for fighting our way to victory in this war than I am about fighting our way back to a solid financial basis after the peace."

Churchill Says Channel, North Sea Push Coming

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—"An attack will be made in due course across the channel or the North Sea," Prime Minister Churchill informed the House of Commons today.

"Such an attack," he said, requires an immense degree of preparation, vast numbers of special landing craft and a great army trained division by division in amphibious warfare.

"All this is proceeding, but it takes time."

However, said the prime minister, "should the enemy become demoralized at any moment, the same careful preparations would not be needed."

"Risks would be run on a large scale," he declared, "but this certainly is no the case at the present time."

The prime minister said that the German Army in France was "as large, apart from the (British) homeland as ours in Britain."

It is not so well equipped as the British and American troops but contains many veterans."

"Invasion preparations," he said, "have been greatly advanced."

Enormous installations have been and are being brought into existence at all suitable ports.

"But no one would have been justified nor would it have been physically possible to have made an effective invasion of the continent during the summer or autumn months of 1942."

Churchill disclosed that he had instructed the chiefs of staff to disregard public clamor in planning future operations.

"I have been asked 'why did you allow false hopes to be raised in Russian breasts?'" he continued, "Why did you agree with the United States to a communique which spoke of a second front in Europe in 1942?"

"I must say quite frankly that I hold it perfectly justifiable to deceive the enemy even if, at the same time, our own people are for a time misled."

"But there is one thing, however, which you must never do—that is, to mislead your Allies. You must never make a promise which you do not fulfill. I hope that we shall show that we have lived up to the standard."

The prime minister disclosed that he informed Stalin on his last visit of the difficulties of a channel landing and the decision to intervene in North Africa.

"Only in this way," he went on, "could we have the larger number of Germans and put them to Calais and the coast of France and the low countries."

"We have drawn and kept at least 33 German divisions in the west and a third of the German fighter air force is there, not being used, and a large proportion of the bomber force is not being used to attack us. Why? Because it is being saved up for this very landing if it occurred on the beaches."

"We ourselves also are engaging, including the Middle East and Malta, more than half of the whole fighter strength of Germany."

"In addition, there are ten German divisions in Norway."

Americans Drive at Top Speed Toward Tunisia As French Africa Capitulates

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Collapse of organized resistance to American occupation forces in northwest French Africa appeared to be all but complete today and Adolf Hitler rushed forces into Tunisia to forestall an extension of the Allied coup to the central Mediterranean.

The Vichy commander at Casablanca sued for an armistice at that vital Atlantic port of entry for expeditionary forces and dispatched troops were in firm occupation of Rabat, the Moroccan capital.

An Allied spokesman said some of Hitler's air-landed troops and war planes had landed in Tunisia, and British radio reports added that Italian Marines had taken possession of the Tunisian naval base of Bizerte in order to maintain their control of the narrow part of the Mediterranean where the French African coast comes within 130 miles of Sicily.

Allied spokesmen said they had no knowledge of any American or British troops reaching Tunisia, where they might dispute the German movement, although the British radio claimed that American troops had been attacking Tunis, the capital, since this morning.

The Vichy radio declared that there had been no Allied landings east of Algiers and that there were no Allied military operations as yet in Constantine, the area of east Algeria.

French radio reports continued to emphasize the arrival of American and British convoys in the Mediterranean area, and quoted observers at La Linea, Spain, as saying several thousand British, American and Canadian troops were en route to Gibraltar.

Two cruisers, four destroyers and a large transport entered Gibraltar harbor early this morning, joining a battleship, three aircraft carriers, four cruisers, 11 destroyers and five transports already in the bay, this report said. Among the merchantmen was the French ship Caudebec.

The Vichy radio announced that Admiral Michellier, the French commander at the Moroccan port of Casablanca, had been compelled to ask an armistice because "after three days of fierce fighting all means of resistance are exhausted."

Collapse of the fight there followed the surrender of Algiers on Sunday and the entrance of American troops into Oran yesterday. These were the three chief centers of resistance in Algiers and Morocco.

Tire Deadline Remains Same OWI Reports

Little Rock, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Office of War Information said today the change in dates for gasoline rationing did not affect the Nov. 22 deadline for turning in idle tires.

Atlanta, Nov. 11 (AP)—Regional POA officials announced today that forms for registering passenger car tires are now available and warned that owners possessing more than two tires for each car after November 22 will be subject to fine and imprisonment.

Frank H. Merritt, regional mileage rationing chief, said owners in Atlantic seaboard states in which gasoline is already rationed must file the form with their local rationing board by that date.

In other states, the deadline for owners to dispose of any tires they have in excess of five is still November 22, although the effective date of gasoline rationing has been postponed to December 1, Merritt added.

He pointed out, however, that if motorists in the presently unrationed states want to secure their basic ration as early as possible they must dispose of excess tires by the time they register for gasoline at school houses November 18, 19 or 20.

BURNS PROVE FATAL
Hope, Nov. 11 (AP)—Cecil Landies, about 32, died in a hospital here today, from burns received when fire destroyed his home north of Lewisville, Lafayette county, yesterday.

Mrs. Landies and two children suffered minor burns.

Members of the family said the blaze started when Landies attempted to use kerosene to light a fire.

Petain Asserts Frenchmen Are Free to Fight

—Europe

On the French Frontier, Nov. 11 (AP)—Marshal Petain bitterly accused Adolf Hitler of breaking the 1940 French-German Armistice by sending German troops into the former unoccupied zone today and Vichy reports said the aged chief of state had set himself against this latest Axis aggression.

"I protest solemnly against decisions incompatible with the armistice agreement," the 86-year-old Marshal said in reply to Hitler's announcement that he was sending his armies swarming on across southern France on the pretext of heading off an Allied assault.

Bluntly, Petain charged the Nazi Fuehrer with "suppressing the first assumptions and principles of the armistice" signed by France and Germany on June 24, 1940, in Compiegne.

In complete disregard of this same word and setting that as another, victorious France put her signature to an Armistice.

Despite Petain's bitter words, the Nazis quickly got their propaganda wheels in motion and described and glorified the Marshal's action as merely a "formal remonstrance."

In this outpouring was a report that Petain had expressed appreciation for Hitler's offer to permit French troops to fight against the Nazis in the West.

Contrasting border advices said Petain would remain in France as a citizen only, feeling that he had performed his task of guiding the nation along as the armistice required. But it was added, he would interfere in no way with resistance by the French.

Havas, French New Agency, reported that Petain still was at his Vichy headquarters at 10:30 a.m. (2:30 a.m. CWT). Pierre Laval, who had been mysteriously absent from Vichy, returned by plane by mid-afternoon and was received immediately by the marshal.

By The Associated Press
London, Nov. 11—German armistice with France was null and void, Southern France toward the Mediterranean no man's land, said Adolf Hitler tore up his two and a half year old Armistice with Marshal Petain and twisted France's fate in the war into an explosive question mark.

Even as grey-clad Nazi columns raced toward the port of Toulon were declared to have landed by parachute and transport plane in Tunisia, and a test with speedily consolidated American forces in Algeria and Morocco was imminent.

Reports from Vichy declared that France's aged marshal had said the German action invalidated the 1940 armistice (which would return undefended France to a technical state of war with the Axis), and that he would make no move to interfere with whatever resistance the French could put up.

If those were his words, they might let down the last barriers of that personal loyalty to him which had kept French fighting forces in Africa and France's naval squadrons in the Mediterranean from swinging back to the Allied cause. Vichy broadcasts said the French fleet was still at Toulon.

Petain's exact stand was unclear, but his provisional capital as late as 3 p.m., conferring with his lieutenants and with Pierre Laval, his chief of government, who returned to Vichy presumably from a reported conference with Hitler and Mussolini.

Other reports reaching the French frontier suggested variously that he had left Vichy, taking with him Gen. Maxime Weygand, French African commander long regarded as an Allied sympathizer, and that he had elected to stay where he was—a virtual prisoner.

Allies Expected Hitler Would Try to Save North Africa

Hull Denounces Hitler's Move Into France

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull today denounced the German invasion of unoccupied France as an act in complete harmony with Hitler's regime of lawlessness and utter disregard of solemn obligations.

Hull, asked at his press conference whether he thought the German action would bring France back into the war on the side of the Allies, replied that it was too early to discuss that phase of the question.

It was advisable, he said, to wait for the more complete picture of the new developments before attempting to evaluate them.

Hull asserted that the German invasion certainly was further justification of the American action in Africa, that is, if any further justification was needed. There was already abundant reason for the American action, he emphasized in answering questions, even before Hitler violated the Franco-German armistice.

Hull was asked if the government considered that chief asked Pétain's protest against Hitler's violation of the armistice had cancelled, in effect, his previous protest against American landings in North Africa.

The Secretary of State replied that the government still lacked official information on much that was happening in France. Until such information was available, he said he would not be in a position to discuss this and other interesting questions.

Asks Aid of Public During Christmas Rush

The Post Office Department now is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. Already in September, latest month for which figures are available, retail sales had reached a level second only to the record month of December, 1941, according to the Department of Commerce. And sales are rising. Such heavy purchases already presage heavy mailing.

If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly.

The best efforts of the Post Office Department alone cannot be enough, in view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

About 25,000 experienced postal workers already have been taken from the war services. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities for the postal burden are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is expected.

The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of these forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York post office reports that in late October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

The Post Office Department is making strenuous efforts to avoid delay. The New York post office reports that in late October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

Continent of Conflict—The Allies Make Africa a Second Front Base

All Africa above the bulge is a war theater today with British-American forces in action from Morocco to Suez. North Africa under allied control will be a base for bombing attacks on Sicily, Sardinia and Italy, and possibly for invasion of southern Europe. Allied forces from east, west and south can squeeze the Axis out of Libya and use the desert front as a base for attacks on Italy, Crete and the Nazi-held Balkans. Meanwhile, Anglo-American units may extend their occupation of French Africa to include Dakar and the vast area south of the Sahara.

Significance Attached to Giraud's Step

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Appointment of Gen. Henri Giraud as leader of the anti-German, anti-Vichy French in North Africa was regarded in authoritative quarters here today as foreboding, no ordinary event, involving a new provincial front movement to which the United States would give formal recognition might be one of the ultimate results.

The primary reason for Giraud's selection for North African leadership unquestionably was military. The 63-year-old warrior, an able general, an expert on North Africa and the hero of six escapes from German prison camps, is widely known and greatly loved among French soldiers and people alike.

For these reasons the Allied high command is reported to have felt that he, if anyone, could weld into a cohesive force the numerous anti-Vichy groups and individuals in North Africa, not all of whom it is understood, have given their fullhearted enthusiasm to the French national committee headed by Gen. Charles DeGaulle in London.

The result of a successful conclusion for Giraud's efforts—and authorities familiar with conditions in North Africa predict as will be—minutely successful, would be to make this force available to the cause of the United Nations and also to give the Allies a vast area inhabited by a friendly, self-governing population from which to press forward their military operations against Nazi Europe.

France North Africa, contains about 30,000,000 people, natives and French, among whom there are many thousands of trained fighting men, presently including some of Vichy's finest troops. A friendly attitude on the part of these people would make the task of the American and Allied armies in North Africa infinitely easier than if they were subject to prolonged harassment from a population divided in its allegiances and uncertain of its destinies.

Beyond these military gains expected from Giraud's leadership lie the political and diplomatic implications of the most delicate question, the relationship between him and DeGaulle. On the personal plane it is said to be of the highest importance to have high admiration for the other.

On the political plane, so far as can be learned here, it is an open question as to whether there is any alliance, understanding or close liaison between the new French leader in North Africa and the author and central figure of the Fighting French movement in London. None of the American or Allied announcements regarding the operations in North Africa reflected any participation by DeGaulle or any connection between him and Giraud.

Deferred Men to be Called by the Draft

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Selective Service headquarters disclosed today local boards had been advised of "increasing demands of the armed forces require that large numbers of men be inducted."

Notices sent out to the boards, however, added this caution: "It is important that they be released and recalled in an orderly manner, giving consideration to their qualifications, and the time necessary to secure or train replacements."

This is particularly true of those persons engaged in management, engineering, planning, supervising, occupations requiring essential skills, and those engaged in the training of others.

The notices detailed operation of the "Manning table plan," adopted to improve means of determining how draft registrants in essential activities may be replaced under which vital war plants will furnish inventories of their manpower requirements.

Classifiers will analyze each job classification in a plant and provide a comprehensive list based largely on the time required to train replacements, on the order in which persons may be taken from the classifications for induction.

Since not all employers will operate under the Manning table plan, the boards were advised to continue considering under present regulations affidavits for occupational classification submitted by employers who do not file job schedules under it.

Meanwhile, local boards were notified also that three more activities had been classed as "essential," to support the war effort, raising to 37 the number so listed.

Nearly 7000 American business concerns, ranging from a New Jersey warehouse to a 25,000 workers to a four-man Alaska packing company, have pledged at least 10 per cent of their pay to War Bonds.

Razor Industry Goes In for War Work

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—There's nothing namby-pamby about the straight razor industry's contribution to the war effort.

Now prohibited from making its product, the industry has turned with gusto to devising instruments of fearsome nature for the armed forces.

A War Production Board official who dropped in on several centers of razor production found them fabricating an array of cut-throats that will come in handy at close quarters.

Among types of military tooth-stabbers being turned out in quantity is the Commando knife, a knickknack unexcelled for general all-purpose mayhem.

The Commando knife in which a blade about eight inches long and between 1-2 and 2 inches wide. It is slightly curved and can be employed like a machete. This model is painted dull grey to prevent the enemy from taking alarm at its steely glint.

January Draft Calls to Be Extra Large

Little Rock, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The January draft call in Arkansas will be as large as the record November and December calls, state selective service headquarters announced.

Headquarters spokesmen said the continued high draft calls would require about 20 south Arkansas boards to send men to Shreveport, La., for induction this month.

Miss McFaddin Nominated for State Contest

Miss Mary Ross McFaddin, an outstanding senior, has been chosen by members of her class and the faculty to represent Hope High School in the State Good Citizenship Contest sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Miss McFaddin received the American History prize given by the John Cain Chapter D. A. R. in junior high school and again in senior high school. She has been prominent in school activities, having been a representative to the Southern Association of Student Governments Convention in Memphis in 1941, and also to several state meetings. She had a leading role in the Junior play and is majorette in the Hope High School Band. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Library club, Home Economics club, and Quill & Scroll.

Miss McFaddin is the daughter of Mrs. McFaddin and Ed F. McFaddin, incoming associate justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court.

large German-Italian air center is at Sicily.

The landing also drove a thin wedge between Eisenhower and Marshal Erwin Rommel's defeated Axis army at Libya.

French civilians and Arabs alike were described as friendly. American troops shared their cigarettes. American contingents evidently well on their way toward Libya, the last territory of Italy's African empire. Vichy and Berlin accounts of continuing operations in Algeria were without immediate confirmation.

These included reports of fighting at Orleansville, midway between Oran and Algiers, and at Blidah, 25 miles inland from the Algerian drive upon Bou Saada, deep in the desert 120 miles southeast of Algiers and about 400 miles from the Libyan-Tunisia frontier.

By WES GALLAGHER
U.S. Correspondent With the Allied Headquarters in French North Africa, Nov. 11—(AP)—Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander-in-chief in North Africa, disclosed today that Rabat, French capital of Morocco, is in American hands.

The disclosure was made when Gen. Eisenhower ordered Maj. Gen. George S. Patton, the American commander of the Moroccan front, to place a wreath on the tomb of Marshal Louis Lyautey, founder of the French empire, at Rabat. Commemorating the 1918 Armistice anniversary, the Allied supreme command offered a "solemn assurance that the African empire would remain French."

(A United Press correspondent, whose report was made available to the Associated Press through a post arrangement of military authorities, said "American forces today assembled in the main square of the French Moroccan town of Rabat to pay tribute to the memory" of Lyautey on the anniversary of his death. The ceremony was conducted before the tomb of the French hero, said the United Press correspondent.)

At the same time the British radio, heard in New York, said it had broadcast an announcement that French Marines had occupied the Tunisian naval base of Bizerte.

Allied submarine and air activity flared against Italian naval units in the Mediterranean engaged in maneuvers, the nature of which was not disclosed.

The admiralty said a British submarine scored two torpedo hits in a successful attack on three cruisers and three destroyers off Sicily. Torpedo aircraft based in Egypt were said to have scored two hits on another cruiser in the same general area, while yesterday the admiralty reported a torpedo hit by a submarine on yet another cruiser.

Bizerte in Tunisia is the best and largest naval base in French North Africa and is about 40 miles from Tunis, the capital. The Tunisian coast is about 130 miles Sicily, the shortest distance between French North Africa and Italy.

French naval forces which had comprised the backbone of resistance at Casablanca were practically wiped out before the commander there sought an armistice, and British observers believed that an armistice for the entire area of Morocco and Algeria would follow speedily.

Hitler's move into Tunisia, aimed as a counterstroke to Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's American and British North African occupations, placed the Germans in momentary command of the narrowest point of the Mediterranean. A British broadcast said German troops had reached Tunis, the French capital, and that the German army was moving into the city.

The Vichy radio reported only that Tunis had an air raid alarm of an hour and a half this morning after a calm night.

The spokesman said that the German movement had "been going on for some little time," but that the Nazi strength there was not known.

Paris in the Spring—After Visit by RAF

Damage by Britain's current raids on France is typified by this first on-the-spot picture of Paris after RAF raid of March 3. Vichy-censored caption accompanying picture said, "Refugees from aggression search the ruins for whatever remains." "Aggression" obviously was British.

Petain Asserts

German broadcasts said Petain was still in their power, whether or not their friend. The Berlin radio said that he remained in Vichy and that his objection to the German move south was only a "remonstrance"—not a formal protest.

Benito Mussolini followed his Nazi ally's lead and sent his troops across the armistice demarcation line in the southeast. Late today the Vichy radio announced that Italian troops had reached Chambray, 40 miles southeast of Lyon, and had taken "rigorous measures to ensure order."

Italians also were said to have reached Nice on the Riviera coast by mid-afternoon.

Vichy broadcasts said German troops were expected to reach Marseille about evening, and that German planes had dropped thousands of copies of Hitler's proclamation to the French people in the Clermont-Ferrand region.

On the French Frontier, Nov. 11—(AP)—Marshal Petain declared today the French-German armistice of 1940 was broken by the entrance of German troops into the former unoccupied zone and, according to information from Vichy, the aged chief of state left France free to defend herself.

Petain himself would remain in France, Vichy reports said, feeling that he had performed his task of guiding the nation so long as the armistice lasted.

He would not, however, interfere the enemy's main fleet was close at hand.

"The latest one required 77 ships of war apart altogether from the supply ships."

This was the happiest Armistice day of the war, not for Churchill alone but for all Britain, and the galleries of Commons were jammed to hear him. Among the no-linkers were the Soviet Ambassador, Ivan Maisky, and the Russian woman sniper, Lieut. Lyudmila Pavlichenko.

Echoing the heartening words of King George in convoking this new session of Britain's war parliament, the prime minister hailed the smashing of the Axis African army as "a British victory of the first order."

King George VI opened the new session of parliament with an address in which he determined to "fight on to complete victory with no thought of parley."

Whatever the future may hold, he said, he was confident that his people would "respond wholeheartedly to every new demand made upon them."

Churchill referred to the "immense output of munitions we have sent to Russia when we were being rightly reproached for the comparative ill equipment of our own troops."

In the course of their talk the chief of state said:

"I received during the night a letter from the Fuehrer informing me that owing to military necessities he was obliged to take measures which have the effect of suppressing the first assumptions and principles of the armistice."

"I protest solemnly against decisions incompatible with the armistice agreement."

Von Rundstedt is commander of the German forces in France.

Vichy (From French Broadcasts), Nov. 11—(AP)—German armored cars passed through Limoges and Lyon at 10 a. m. today. (Lyon is about 170 miles north of the French port of Marseille. Limoges is in the center of France, 170 miles airline west of Lyon.)

The Vichy radio shortly before 11 a. m. (5 a. m. Central War Time) told the French people that German troops had entered the unoccupied zone and appealed them to keep calm.

To use of them to be on guard against "false reports."

A communiqué from the French ministry of information announced to the people that Reichsheer Marshal Petain informing him of the conditions and reasons for the operations in the hitherto unoccupied zone.

The first Germans in uniform appeared in the suburbs of Vichy in mid-morning.

The Petain cabinet was in session continuously from 6 a. m.

Everyone here, as in Pop's office, seemed to be talking at once. The two detectives, Blythe, Nancy, even big Duane, who grew more and more indignant as he began to understand things.

"We were just trying to get the straight of it, Nancy," he said, rather desperately. "We had such a fight! It's a wonder somebody wasn't in."

soldiers of France go forward with the United Nations."

"American soldiers," he said in his address, "are giving their lives today in all the continents and on all the seas in order that the dream of the Unknown Soldier may at last come true. All the heroism and all the unconquerable devotion that free men and women are showing in this war shall make certain the survival and advancement of civilization."

Mr. Roosevelt paid tribute to the Unknown Soldier, declaring that those living today as well as generations yet unborn stood accountable to him and his comrades.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that the Unknown Soldier had not given his life on the fields of France merely to defend his American home for the moment that was passing. He gave it that his family, his neighbor, and all his fellow Americans might live in peace in the days to come.

Mr. Roosevelt asked that Americans be kept "strong in the courage that will win this war" and that they be given "the wisdom and the vision that we shall need for true victory in the peace which is to come."

which some quarters maintain Gen. Charles De Gaulle has always lacked for a broad government in London.

"This is a most significant Armistice Day," a British source said. "It must be remembered that 24 years ago on this date another German army was marching—marching back home because it had suffered a great defeat."

Today we have another German army on the march—because it has suffered defeat. It augurs well for the Allied cause."

Hitler set forth the Axis position in two parallel communications. One was addressed to "Frenchmen, officers and men of the French army." The other was directed to Marshal Petain.

Hitler said that the weakness of the French forces in the Mediterranean area would make it easier ground than the German-held zone for Allied invasion.

"The German government has known for 24 hours that plans of these operations provide that the next attack will be made against Corsica, in order to occupy that island, and against the south coast of France," he said.

"In these circumstances I felt compelled to order the German army immediately to march through the unoccupied zone—and this is now being done—and to march to the point aimed at by troops."

"It has a single aim—to renege together with its allies, any landing attempt by the Anglo-American forces," he said.

Immediate withdrawal of the troops across the line was pledged "as soon as the situation in the Mediterranean is improved to the point that it is no longer imperiling the interests of the Reich in Maritime France."

ventional holidays of civilized peoples. "The Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and even Christmas, commemorate historical events of the distant past," he said, "but Armistice day symbolizes for us that which Christmas alone of all the other holidays stands for—not history alone, but the supreme sacrifice that our fellow men have paid so that we and our country and our country and civilization may carry on. For this reason Armistice day has a personal meaning for every one of us."

The program closed with a moment of silent prayer for the men of the fighting forces, and for early victory.

Wood to Make Rubber Products—Not Rires

Stockholm (AP)—Production of an artificial rubber from wood products capable of being vulcanized and suitable for use in tires, hoses, and other plastic products, but not for motor car tires, has been announced here. The process has been developed by Gustav Ehrensvard, a young Swedish chemist and an experimental factory has been opened at Gislaved
Co-operative Association.

A full-sized factory for the production of the new artificial rubber is planned. The new product has been given the name of "Telax." The Cooperative Association announced that it does not intend to monopolize the process but will offer the basic material to other manufacturers.

Ball Stealing Illini May Share Conference Title

By ARNOLD DERLITZKI
Chicago, Nov. 11 (AP).—Illinois' ball stealing Illini, grown adept at scoring touchdowns in this manner, may go on to steal a share of the Western Conference football championship this week.

They will meet powerful Ohio State at Cleveland's municipal stadium Saturday and a victory would be in keeping with the surprising Illinois' first season under Ray Eliot. Yet success may depend entirely on a fondness for their pet trick—ball stealing. In virtually every other respect Ohio State was given the edge.

Statistics released today by the Big Ten bureau showed that the Buckeyes, led by Gene Fekete and Paul Sarringhaus, not only were averaging twice as much total yardage a game as the Illini (362 to 176), but excelled at defense, too, where they were second to Minnesota.

Only at forward passing did Illinois hold an edge. And this could be attributed to the fact that the Buckeyes, with one of the strongest passing games in the nation often did not need to resort to passes.

So, with the possibility of pass interceptions limited, the Illinois must either capitalize on their own aerial attack—now crippled by injuries to Dick Good and his successor, Art Dufelmeier—or they must steal the ball.

That Illinois is proficient enough at this will be attested to by both Minnesota and Northwestern. Against the Gophers, Alex Agase, a guard, stole a Minnesota ball and raced to a touchdown. Elmer Engel, an end, duplicated the feat against Northwestern.

In fact, the records disclose Illinois linemen are carrying the burden on both offense and defense.

In four conference games, Illinois has scored 74 points and 50 of these were made by Agase and these ends—Jim McCarthy, Ray Griener and Engel. Mac Wenskus, a center, also has scored a touchdown but it came in a non-conference contest.

Saturday's game will end the one-game season for Illinois, now tied with Ohio State and Iowa for first place, each with three victories and a defeat. Ohio State has yet to play Michigan and many observers believe the tight tie race will not be greatly clarified until then—unless, of course, the Illinois steal to play this week.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Nov. 11 — (AP) — If you're interested in getting some kind of exercise besides shoveling coal and splitting wood this winter, this department can inform you that there will be skiing as usual on New England's snow-covered hills and various other places. Most of the real experts with the slippery bedsteads are in the Army — Torger Torkle, Walter Prager, Everett Bailey, Ed Blood, Harold Sorenson and Birger Torsen, to name just a few so there won't be much competition. But for folks who think such things are fun, the New Hampshire and Vermont ski centers will open in December. And at Manchester, Vt., they've even rigged up a trail with an electric timer where you drop a nickel in the slot, start when the green light shows and get a ticket with your time printed on it at the finish.

Today's Guest Star
Lynn C. Boyle, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "A healthy rivalry between the services is all for the good of the service. As soon as the word got around about the Naval exploit at Franklin Field, the Army cut loose in Africa."

Bentched for Good
You've heard about the football player who busted his leg falling off the bench a tan exciting moment. Well, Angel Werner, the Venezuelan who plays for the Oklahoma Jayvose, cracked two vertebrae in his back while sitting on the bench recently. During a game with Central Teachers, Charles Heard was tackled and tossed across the sidelines, pinning Werner against the bench. And

Georgia Tech Team Faces a Real Grid Test

By DICK HAWKINS
Atlanta, Nov. 11 (AP).— Maybe it's the fact that Alabama's powerhouse is coming to town Saturday or maybe it's just plain cussedness but all the fans-about-town have warmed up an argument, to wit:

Is Georgia Tech's 1942 team better than the 1938 outfit that beat California in the Rose Bowl?

To get the matter settled gently but firmly, four Atlanta coaches, whose combined span in coaching has been more than 90 years, were questioned, and what was the result?

Two were for the current edition and the other two were unalterably opposed.

Comparative scores are of little help to either side. In the first seven games this year, Tech has tallied 186 points and has allowed 32. The '38 team scored 17 points in the first seven encounters and gave up 34. The old timers point out, however, that this year's schedule has been easier. The Rose Bowlers took on V.M.I., Tulane, Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Alabama, Auburn and Georgia in succession while the current squad has faced Auburn, Notre Dame, Chattanooga, Davidson, Navy, Duke and Kentucky. Any conclusion here might be in favor of the champs of twenties.

Comparison of the two teams, man-for-man, is even more confusing.

In Marce, Speer, and Thrash, the '20 squad had three of the best tackles in the business and Peter Pund at center was a unanimous all-America. Westbrook and Drennon at guards needed no favors, nor did Jones and Dunlap at the flanks. In the backfield, Durant, a smart field general, led Thompson, Mizell and Lumpkin on the first string.

Today's starting line with Marshall and Hells at ends, Anderson and Eaves at tackles, Jordan and Hardin in the guard spots and Manning at the pivot has stopped every running game this year, including that of Notre Dame.

And then they come to the cream of the '42 argument — Tech's star backfield roster, made up of almost equal men. A least four of the pass and three are capable of bewildering opponents claim they would bewilder the big powerhouse forwards of '38. They point to Prokop, Castleberry, Sheldon, Plaster, Stein, Dodd, McHugh, Faulner, Eldridge and Luck with pardonable pride.

Here the old timers wonder how well the dazzlers would do if their backfield were full of opposing lemmens. And there, of course, is the mat in the nut.

It's an argument that never can be settled but it'll be the number one debate around these parts for some time to come.

AAA Program Changes Date of Planting

The planting of winter legumes in Hempstead County this year is expected to be expanded because of a change in the Triple-A program extending the date of planting for winter legumes to November 30, according to Earl N. Martindale, Chairman of the County Triple-A Committee.

This 30-day extension of the time for planting, Mr. Martindale said, is expected to result in the planting of many additional acres of winter legumes in the county thus adding to the supply of nitrogen in the soil and contributing toward easing the fertilizer situation next spring and increasing production of necessary war crops.

The change in date will give farmers at least another month in which to plant winter legumes as the final date on all legumes had been not later than November 1.

In commenting further on the change Mr. Martindale said that not only will it enable farmers to plant nitrogen-producing crops that will enrich the soil but that they will receive payments from the government for seeding the legumes and also for turning them under next spring.

In view of the fact that nitrogen fertilizer for 1943 will probably be limited to approximately half the supply for 1942, every farmer can have his own nitrogen plant on his farm by seeding winter legumes that will produce the needed nitrogen.

To assist farmers in the planting of the winter legumes, seed are available through the Triple-A as a conservation material. Information on obtaining the seed may be obtained from the Triple-A office located in the Courthouse at Hope.

You can be sure that when the second front does come it will send the enemy reeling back in the war hat-chery from which it came.

Portland Pilots Pacific Coast's Best Gridders

By WILLIAM E. Phipps
Portland, Ore., Nov. 11 — (AP) — You haven't heard of the Portland Pilots?

Well, here's what they've got:

1. The Pacific Coast's highest scorer, fourth in the nation.
2. The hottest college football team in Oregon, in or out of the Pacific Coast conference. And an average of 3 01-2 points a game to prove it.
3. A coach who's made their game so pass-heavy it looks like volleyball.

They really have something this year at University of Portland, a school of the same class as St. Mary's Gaels and Santa Clara's Broncos.

Take Del Hunsinger. He's a good-looking lad from South Bend, Wash., stands six feet, weighs 195. He has scored 11 touchdowns, made 16 conversions — one a drop kick — for a total of 82 points.

That's enough to put him well in front in Washington State's Bob Kennedy, who was listed this week as the coast leader with 63 points. Enough to put him fourth in the national rankings, just ahead of Georgia's Frank Sinkwich, behind Eddie McGovern of those Poly, Bob Scheiber of Missouri and James Secrest of Rochester.

His running partner and roommate is Hallenough, a Louisville, Ky., worth of Bellingham, Wash. He has scored 50 points in 11 games, mostly on passes from Hunsinger, a least one of which traveled 30 yards through the air.

The pilots have put their razzle-dazzle together for 219 points this season to opponents' 33. They've won seven out of their last eight games, losing only to the army's star-laden second air force eleven which has been running roughshod around the west. But even the Pilots couldn't keep Portland from scoring twice in something they've taken from no other outfit.

Grocers' Meet at City Hall Thursday

Retail grocers in Hope and vicinity will meet at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night to hear two representatives of the Office of Price Administration explain the method for certain food pricing designed to relieve stores caught in a price squeeze as the result of March ceiling prices.

The proper method of determining ceiling prices for newly-stocked items not carried in March also will be outlined by A. T. Walker and W. J. Holland, food specialists with the state OPA office at Little Rock.

The Hope meeting is one of a state-wide series of ten being held with retail grocers.

Blevins PTA to Meet on Thursday

The Blevins Parent Teacher Association will meet in the High School Auditorium Thursday evening November 12 at 8 o'clock. All parents in the community are urged to attend and take part in the programs.

LaFayette 4-H Club Members Honored

Little Rock, Nov. 11.—Southwestern Arkansas outstanding 4-H Club members for 1942 are Harold Morris of Lafayette county and Helen Tibbitt. For Words Make Up World of Tire Users

Akron (AP)—Re-groove, re-tread, re-build and re-cap are four words in motorists' vocabularies these days, when tires can't be replaced. Harold Gray, technical supervisor of the F. Goodrich company, says the four "re" words now confusing worried drivers have specific meanings.

Re-groove, he says means cutting new grooves into old tires without adding and new materials. The War Production Board has turned thumbs down on this method because it wears the rubber cut out to make new grooves.

Re-tread means ripping the worn tread, shearing off even some steel absorbing fibers off old tires and replacing with new. Re-build is a times used synonymously with re-tread.

Re-cap as two grades—top-cap, which involves vulcanizing a new strip of tread onto worn tires, and full-cap which means using a wider strip to cover the old tread and part of the tire shoulder as well. It requires less rubber than re-treadings.

"Of the four," Gray points out, "re-capping rates with five authorities as the most efficient way to make available more tires so farthest, which makes it the best way we have to 'keep 'em rolling.'"

Re-capping rates with five authorities as the most efficient way to make available more tires so farthest, which makes it the best way we have to 'keep 'em rolling.'"

SPECIALIZING in any job is important. And, it takes only one taste of ice-cold Coca-Cola to tell you that its makers have specialized in refreshment for years. They created this utterly different drink 57 years ago. Today it's still individual—and delightfully so.

Note the difference in taste. You can sense the special blend of flavors. Sip again. Your thirst is gone before you know it, but something else arrives. This is refreshment. And it's refreshment that goes into energy—quickly—pleasantly.

When you've finished, you know you've enjoyed a drink made to a standard of quality, not to a standard of price. Folks the country over feel the same way about it. They appreciate the genuine... the real thing... Coke... Coca-Cola.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke, Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing... the real thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community."

Boy and girl, recreation and refreshment! There's two for company and two more for happiness and satisfaction. You know refreshment's first name, of course. Every body knows Coke.
